

COUNTRY FIDDLER

This was a saw cutting exercise for me using Macassar ebony and vicamora veneer but any two contrasting veneers would do. I had hoped to get two pictures from the two veneers but, as is often the case with faces, the negative version didn't work out.

When you follow round the intricate outline you will see why the saw is preferable to the knife but I have no doubt that some knife cutters will manage to prick round it and get it out in one piece.
